UNIVERSITY SERVICE

I organized the trip of former Prime Minister Giuliano Amato to Boston, in conjunction with the Consul General of Italy to New England. At the time, Amato was the Vice President of the Constitutional Convention of the European Union, which produced a constitution for Europe. I arranged for the Hon. Amato to speak at various places, including Harvard, MIT, and the Boston Committee for Foreign Relations

Through the Consul General of Italy for New England, I secured a position from the Italian government for the Modern Languages department for seven years (renewable), worth approximately $400,000 to the university (beginning in 1995). I secured funding for an international symposium held at the John F. Kennedy Library from the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Library, and an Italian bank for $50,000 (1993). I received $2000 from the Consul General to fund a conference at the university (1995).

Liaison between the University of Massachusetts Boston and the Italian American Community

On October 3, 2005, I gave the opening remarks at the State House for October as Italian Heritage Month on "The Two Hundredth Anniversary of Giuseppe Mazzini's Birth"

Interview for Commonwealth Journal, WUMB, on Enrico Fermi, aired on Sunday, June 4, 2006.

I organized (with the participation of Italian Consul General Pierluigi Squillante) and participated in the session "Giuseppe Mazzini and the Religion of Democracy"; I invited Professors Roland Sarti of UMassAmherst (Emeritus) and Professor John Davis (UConn, Storrs) to take part. Session held in conjunction with October as Italian Heritage Month, October 20, 2005

I initiated the process that brought a new documentary film on the Sacco-Vanzetti case to Boston. This film was shown at the Dante Alighieri Society building in Kendall Square in August and in September at the Boston Public Library.

Organized, served as moderator, and delivered a paper at the session "The Italian-Jewish Connection," Pirandello Lyceum, September 24, 2001

Organized and served as chair of a session on "Italian American Mayors" (with the Pirandello Lyceum, Boston, October 1998)

One-half hour interview on the history of modern Italy for Italian television (Telepace, Rome, July 1998)

Two ten-minute interviews for Italian radio, "Lavori in corso," December 1997 and January 1998

Served as chair of a session on "Italian Americans in Politics," Tufts University, April 1998. I helped organize the session, which included Mayor Thomas Menino of Boston, Mayor (and future Congressman) Michael Capuano of Somerville

Four hour comment and analysis on the general Italian elections of April 21, 1996, on national Italian radio (RAI, GR 2), filo diretto, April 21-22, 1996 (with Aldo Forbice, Giuliano Zincone, and Giuseppe Rizzuto, in Italian)

Conducted a Round Table with community leaders at the Dante Alighieri Society, filmed by director Folco Quilici for a documentary he is preparing for Italian television

Evaluations for tenure and promotion to full professor at other institutions of higher education

President, Italian Cultural Center (Consulate General of Italy in Boston, 1995)
